

WORKERS' COMP for TEMPORARY WORKERS in OTHER STATES

Provide coverage for your Idaho workers temporarily working in other states and avoid double premiums.

Idaho can request Extraterritorial coverage with any state that has reciprocity.

Neighboring Reciprocal States Include:

- ➔ Washington
- ➔ Oregon
- ➔ Montana
- ➔ Wyoming
- ➔ Nevada
- ➔ Utah

Quick Facts

- You must ensure you have coverage in every state where your employees work
- Agreements typically last for 6 months (varies by state)
- Not valid if your Idaho workers' comp is canceled
- Ensure workers meet laws of state they are in
- Won't be backdated
- Can't request more than 2 weeks before work begins
- For permanent business locations in other states, SIF can coordinate coverage via our Other States Coverage program

How it Works

- Once you request coverage, the Idaho Industrial Commission (IIC) will send you a link for more information
- Complete the requested info. Once the IIC has reviewed the request, you will receive a certificate of approval (or information about your denial)
- Your certificate will be sent to SIF and the other state
- You must receive approval from the other state to have valid coverage
